REPORT

Our NSS unit at VPM's R Z Shah College recently organized a mega e-waste collection drive, showing a strong commitment to environmental responsibility. Involving the community, the drive aimed to raise awareness about the dangers of electronic waste and promote sustainable disposal practices. Volunteers gathered old electronics like computers, smartphones, and peripherals to prevent them from being dumped in landfills. Through informative sessions, the NSS unit taught participants about the importance of recycling and proper disposal methods. This initiative not only tackled the growing e-waste issue but also instilled a sense of civic duty among participants, showing the positive impact of community-driven environmental efforts.
